

NEXUS Automotive International launched its first session of the INSEAD Aftermarket Executive Program to contribute to the progressive future of the automotive aftermarket

Geneva, 2025, February 3rd – NEXUS Automotive International, in partnership with the international business school INSEAD, launched last week its first aftermarket executive training program alongside 50 elite participants, including CEOs and executives from manufacturing and distribution sectors across all continents from January 22-24, 2025, at the prestigious Palace de Menthon in Annecy, France.

As a recognized leaders in the automotive aftermarket industry, C-levels are well aware of the radical transformations reshaping the industry. The electric vehicle revolution, geopolitical and financial crises, climate change, and rising material costs to name only a few, are exerting unprecedented pressures on the automotive aftermarket activities.

Now, more than ever, there is an urgent need for foresight, strategic agility, and innovative solutions to navigate these challenges and to better understand the future. To address this critical need, NEXUS took the initiative to ask INSEAD, a globally recognized leader in executive education to collaborate with NEXUS to create for the industry a unique, certified program designed specifically for top-tier executives.

The comprehensive agenda, developed in collaboration with INSEAD, features sessions on key megatrends that will impact the aftermarket industry. The goal was to provide with valuable insights, potential solutions, and opportunities for improvement within the automotive aftermarket industry. The program featured presentations from highly qualified speakers.

Gaël Escribe, NEXUS' CEO said: "We are very proud to launch the first session of what promises to be a transformative experience with 50 elite participants. This 2,5 days were indeed insightful and rich of discussions in order to contribute to the collective progress of our industry and deepen our understanding of its future".
